BARRY IN FIERCE
SIX-ROUND FIGHTNegro Dropped in First Round, but Recovered and Walloped Husky
Opponent Unmercifully—Barry
Is a Tough Proposition.

COLUMN

After cleaning up all the fighters who would meet him in Merrie England, Sam Langford, of America, came back last night at the Sharkey Club Mr. Langford, who is just three shades darker than Joe Walcott and almost as handsome, made his homecoming debut against a husky heavyweight named Jim Barry.

Half a minute later Sam Langford was lying on the floor with his eyes blinking and his jaws drooping from the effect of a terrific right-hander. For eight seconds the pugilistic sensation of the year endured, and then Mr. Langford rose slowly to his feet and hobbled backward. Either Barry's smash, vibrating downward through Langford's vertebrae, had jolted his ankle out of place, or the fall had given it a severe wrench.

However that may have been Sam Langford, wearing a stiff and stagey grin, went right on fighting.

No egg ever received a worse beating than came to Jim Barry during the seventeen minutes of fighting that ensued. No egg ever received a worse beating, but to give Barry the credit due, he certainly did fight all the way in a style that shows him to be one of the most promising heavyweights in the East. He was always willing to go in and slug Langford, and although his knees were weak from the hard smashes dealt out by the husky black to the end of the fight he often gave as good as he got.

THE Sharkey A. C. was packed to the doors, which were closed early because the hall was full. Seventy-five members of the Lamb's Club held ringside seats. Tammany Hall was there. The race-track was represented by all the leading bookmakers. A thousand or so of business men and ordinary mortals filled the other chairs.

JUST before the main bout a young middle-weight named Stanton, hailing from San Francisco, went on. Mr. Stanton arrived here in the grasp of adversity, travelling on his private brake beam de luxe. He wasn't carrying extra fat because his training diet had been restricted to cinders and plain water for several days. But he did so well on the other side after a few weeks' square meal that Manager Buckley told him on with a husky Italian named Cardini for the semi-final.

Stanton gave Cardini such a beating in less than two rounds that the Italian quit cold and wobbled out to find a pair of cinders to put on his eyes.

Then, while Mr. Stanton waited, Mr. Buckley impressed a strong colored gent named Joe Gainer to go on with Stanton. The Californian hammered Gainer for six rounds, industriously beating his face to a pulp and pounding his ribs out of place. Only extraordinary gameness enabled Gainer to stay the limit. Watch this man Stanton. He'll whip a lot of good ones.

THE semi-final worked the crowd up to a fever for the main event. Langford and Barry came into the ring stripped for action.

I've never seen broader shoulders than Langford's. He is a double-barrelled Joe Walcott, and Barry is a pretty husky customer himself.

They began to fight. Both were slugging fiercely, when of a sudden Barry's right fist swept over to Langford's jaw, and the big black fell with-

Auto Daredevils After New Record
in Twice Around the Clock Contest

With a record entry list that brings together the largest number of powerful racing machines that have ever competed in a track event, the "twice-around-the-clock" contest at the Morris Park Motorrome on Friday and Saturday, should be the most spectacular and thrilling event in the history of American motor car racing. Twenty high-powered machines will whirl around the brilliantly lighted oval and the rivalry among the drivers makes certain a new record of at least 120 miles.

Although a number of others have tried to enter since the lists closed, the club decided that not more than twenty cars could be started, even on the track, without the journey being too perilous for the competitors.

There are eight foreign and twelve American mile-a-minute cars entered to racing game. The big race will start at 8 o'clock to-morrow night, but to-mor-
